

Wal-Mart gives to AWAP programs

Sun Journal – Aug 20, 2010

Cathlin Foster, general manager of the Wal-Mart Distribution Center in Lewiston, presents a $1,000 check to Jane Morrison, executive director of the Abused Women’s Advocacy Project. The project’s mission is to support and empower those affected by domestic violence and to engage the community in creating social change in Androscoggin, Franklin and Oxford counties. The funding will support those programs.
